RE: eInstruction Classroom Interactive Response System
Direct Negotiation 09-057-DN

On August 19, 2008, official action was granted to allow permission for the Purchasing Department, Research and Evaluation Department, Dell, and eInstruction to directly negotiate for the purchase of Classroom Response Systems for various schools throughout the District on an "as-needed" basis.

As you know, under the Department of Education Rule 6A-1.012(10), a district school board, when acquiring "information technology resources" may make any acquisition through direct negotiation and contract with vendors that best fit the needs of the school district.

As indicated in our previous request, all options on the attached tabulation sheet from eInstruction are now being submitted for your approval. Dell did not submit a proposal for the direct negotiation.

The direct negotiation is a three-year contract, renewable annually based upon mutual consent of both parties. The District Instructional Media Department anticipates expenditures for the first year on an "as-needed" basis to be $100,000. However, an immediate purchase by the Research and Evaluation Department will include: forty (40) eInstruction bundles (they will receive one (1) free eInstruction bundle as a part of the special promotion that was agreed on during the direct negotiation. For every thirty (30) bundles purchased the District will receive one (1) free bundle) and one (1) year of the REAP software for all schools and departments throughout the District. The funding source to purchase the eInstruction equipment will be from Title 2 and Capital funds. The contract will commence on November 5, 2008 and continue through November 4, 2009.

If you should have any questions regarding this matter, please contact me at your earliest convenience.

RE: eInstruction Classroom Interactive Response System
Requesting Permission to Directly Negotiate

The Research and Evaluation Department is requesting permission to directly negotiate with eInstruction and Dell for the purchase of Classroom Response Systems for various schools throughout the District. In addition, the pricing will be firm for one (1) year for schools to purchase the responders on an "as-needed" basis. Dell and eInstruction are the sole companies that are able to provide pricing and products for the eInstruction Classroom Interactive Response System. These are the only responders that have a proven track record with the ability to be integrated with the Princeton Review software the district has been utilizing for the past two (2) years. As you recall, the Princeton Review software is the student monitoring tool currently utilized by the District for standardized testing. The eInstruction Responders offers the following features:

- Real-time performance data (REAP software) from every student for standardized testing which can diagnose a district instantly at the District, School and Teacher levels.
- As many as 100 tests can be given from one (1) computer which will free up computers for other instructional use.

Under the Department of Education Rule 6A-1.012(10), a district school board, when acquiring "information technology resources" may make any acquisition through direct negotiation and contract with vendors which best fits the needs of the school district.

The direct negotiation will be a three-year contract, renewable annually based upon mutual consent of the parties. The anticipated annual expenditures will be approximately $60,000.

If you should have any questions regarding this matter, please contact me at your earliest convenience.
