

Introduction to iObservation for Teachers

Welcome to iObservation! iObservation is an interactive online system where teachers can self-assess and collaborate with peers and administrators to continuously grow in their instruction and help every student learn.

Teachers can access iObservation anytime to:

- Self-asses to identify strengths and growth needs
- Receive observation and growth feedback from administrators and peers
- Understand the common language of instruction that defines effective teaching
- View classroom footage examples of effective implementation
- Engage in private conferences and group discussions with peers and administrators

There are 2 sets of instructions in Sections A and B. Follow them to successfully get started in iObservation as a Learner.
